

Asset Protection

When there's no other option

Divorce can only be obtained when at least one party is able to show that the marriage has broken down irretrievably. When this is the case, you need to be able to prove that at least one of five grounds for divorce is in effect:

- Adultery
- Unreasonable behaviour
- Separation for two years and the other party consents to a divorce
- Separation for five years when consent is not required
- Desertion by the other party for two years

Our specialists have over 150 years' shared experience in family law. When it comes to complex divorce proceedings, we're here to provide reassurance and advice to ensure that the things important to you are protected.

Protecting your assets

Our solicitors deal with a range of complex issues on a daily basis, with cases including landowners, lottery winners, business leaders and even professional footballers. These specialists located in Sheffield and Chesterfield have a wide range of skills that can be refined to suit your individual situation and requirements, and we believe that one of the best ways to protect your assets is to not waste them on expensive, ill-informed court battles.

The process

Providing you agree that the courtroom isn't the best environment for managing your assets, we'll suggest effective methods such as Collaborative Law and Mediation. However, if you would prefer to take matters to court, we're with you every step of the way.

Get in touch

Through an initial free assessment of your case, we can suggest the best course of action and its likely timescale. Contact one of our offices and we'll let you know what to do next.

Professional, compassionate, reliable and affordable

Our dedicated, highly experienced care team are ranked in the UK Legal 500 for their expertise in care proceedings. In terms of funding for care work, although strict eligibility rules now apply to legal aid for family law issues within the UK, Care Proceedings are classed differently and legal aid is more widely available. Once proceedings have been issued, legal aid is available for all parents of subject children. For every other situation, and for everyone one else (e.g. Grandparents), legal aid can be available but it will be subject to eligibility tests.
